

GUARDIAN INTERNATIONAL

The concept behind THE INTERNATIONAL is to provide a basic but fully flexible microfilm or digital camera that can be easily serviced and maintained in even the most difficult conditions. As the world moves towards computerisation equipment has become more complex and dependant on smooth power supplies and levels of technical and parts back up that Icam recognise is not always available.

Archives require reliable and simple operation, THE INTERNATIONAL has been designed to fulfil this need.

The Basic microfilm model has a flat copy board. A control box, manually adjusted Cold fluorescent lighting (using standard tubes), A motorized column (with easily available and replacable service parts) And a manual focus 35mm microfilm Head.

This can be upgraded at any time to a fully pneumatic book handling base.

The digital version will take any of our available Digital cameras and although it will require a computer to operate the base unit retains the simplicity outlined above.

It is readily assembled with full instructions or an Icam engineer can be present at the first installation to provide operator and service training.
